A TERRIBLE CALAMITY!

Burning of the Southern Hotel, St. Louis.

Over 200 Lives Lost.

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—The most frightful calamity that has ever befallen St. Louis took place very early this morning, involving the destruction of the Southern Hotel by fire, and the loss of a large number of lives. The exact number cannot now be given, but it is feared forty or fifty perished, either by being burned directly or fire, smothered by smoke and then consumed. The fire caught in the store rooms in the basement, and was first seen coming through the ground floor just north of the office, and in ten minutes it had ascended the elevators and rotunda and spread itself over the sixth floor under the roof. This floor was occupied entirely by employes of the hotel, the largest part of whom were women. The fire spread rapidly, filling every room and hall with flames and smoke, and the scene was of the most terrible description. Frantic men, women and children ran through the halls shrieking in the most heartrending manner in their wild and desperate efforts to escape. The smoke was so dense in some of the halls that the gas jets were extinguished, which rendered egress to those most familiar with the building a matter of great difficulty. The density of smoke in the hall drove many guests and boarders back into their rooms, and they rushed to the windows as a means of escape. Ladders were raised as soon as possible, and women and children, with nothing on but night clothes, were taken from the burning building. Some fainted from fright and others sank exhausted to the ground from nervous prostration. The ladders were generally too short to reach the fifth and sixth stories, but by hoisting some on the one story balcony of the East side and the two story balcony on the North side of the building these floors were reached and all those at the windows rescued. The Skinner fire escape was brought into service and saved many lives. While this work was going on some frightful scenes occurred. One man who had been occupying a window on the street front of the hotel became desperate at the seeming delay in effecting his escape. With nervous hands he tore sheets from his bed into strips, tied them together, fastening this improvised rope to the window sill, and disregarding the fact that it did not reach more than 20 feet, he let himself down hand-over-hand. The men below who saw his position, turned away their heads to avoid witnessing the sickening event that was inevitable. Finally he reached the end of the sheet and for the first time seemed to realize his position. He stopped, threw his head back, revealing a ghastly face and swung to and fro, swayed by the breeze which the roaring flames above created. His limbs swung around convulsively as though to catch around something,—then he let go, and groans went up from hundreds as he whirled round and round and finally struck on the stone flagging. He died in a few moments. Two others then jumped from the 4th story windows, one of whom seemed not to be dangerously hurt, while the other expired in a few moments. A woman in the 5th story became panic stricken and jumped out. She alighted on her feet and was carried to the St. James hotel, and is still alive. Her husband, who had been standing by her side then tore up the bedding and let the strips so made out of a window. To this the firemen attached a rope, which the man hauled up, making it fast to the window sill and safely descended by it. A man named J. E. Wilson jumped from the fourth story and was killed. Andrew Ensman and Mrs. Scot met their deaths the same way. The mortality among the female help of the hotel it is feared will be found great. There were some two hundred of them, all of whom were located in the upper story of the building. The panic among them was perfectly terrible, and a number jumped from the upper windows. Among those known to have been killed in this manner were: Bridget Mead, Mary Carey, Bridget White, Ellen Reilly, and several others who were carried away by friends and whose names have not yet been ascertained. Miss Kate Claxton, the actress, has another narrow escape, and is unharmed. Among those known to have been saved are: K. Krutz, Texas; Mrs. A. McCoy, Arkansas, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Gott, Syracuse, New York; W. B. Coggswell and family and E. J. Kimball, of Missouri; Dr. Gerlich, German consul, who jumped from a window and broke his leg; his wife is unhurt. Charles Teiman lost his life in attempting to save others. Phillip Gerold, boarder, was brought out alive, but entirely bereft of reason. About half an hour after the fire was discovered the entire roof was ablaze, and the flames rapidly descended to the lower stories. Half an hour later the floors and interior walls began to fall. The roof fell in, and there is now nothing left of one of the finest hotels in the country except the Walnut-street front and parts of the Fourth and Fifth street faces. The loss on building and contents will be from $750,000 to $1,000,000. Insurance unknown.

ST. LOUIS, April 10.—Engines are still playing on the fire, and a force has been organized to search for dead bodies. Several bodies have already been taken from the debris in a more or less burned state, but the names are not yet ascertained. There are also several bodies at the morgue awaiting identification. Mrs. Moran and servant were killed by jumping from a window. Geo. Frank Georgley, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Free Masons of Missouri, is supposed to have perished. Six other persons, names unknown, were killed either by jumping from windows or were suffocated by smoke, and dragged out of the burning building. It is difficult to procure the names of the killed, but it is hoped a nearly complete list will be obtained this afternoon.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The excitement relative to the late fire at St. Louis has been very great and much anxiety to ascertain the names of those lost. Several hotels displayed flags at half mast. Mr. Breslin, one of the proprietors of the Southern Hotel, is interested in the Gilsey House, Metropolitan Hotel and St. James of this city. The Buffalo and Boston Insurance Companies have $57,000 insurance on the burned buildings.

The Death List Growing.

CHICAGO, April 11.—The Journal's St. Louis special estimates the killed at 125, and says 40 are at the morgue and 20 have been recognized by friends and taken away. The hotel cost a million at the beginning of the war. The insurance on the building is $192,000, and on the furniture $200,000.

Later.

The reported number of dead bodies taken from the ruins proves false. The fire department has not yet succeeded in cooling off the debris sufficiently to enable them to prosecute the search. The Mr. Adams referred to in a previous dispatch was Rev. A. R. Adams, incumbent of the parish of Berkshire, England. He was en route from Florida to California. His remains await the order of his friends. Lettie Allen an actress from the East, a guest of Miss Clifton of the Olympic company of this city, is among the saved. H. F. or H. M. Clarke, railroad conductor, said to be formerly from Toledo, Ohio, together with his wife and child, are among the killed. Milton Nobles, the actor, and Miss Frankie McClellan, the actress, were saved, the latter very seriously injured. The former was mainly instrumental in saving the lives of the ladies who were on the same floor as himself. Crowds of people have thronged the vicinity of the fire all day, some looking for absent friends but the great mass incited only by curiosity. There is a strong guard of police surrounding the ruins, and no one is permitted within the lines excepting reporters and those directly interested in the calamity. The names of all known to be dead are not yet ascertained, but a full list may be expected to night and also the full insurances.

The Dead List.

Dr. Auler, coroner, gives the following list of killed as reported to him, and thinks it comprises all known to be dead: Rev. A. R. Adams, of Stock Cross, Berkshire, England; George Frank Geouley, grand secretary Masonic fraternity of this State; Kate Reilly, Kate Dooten and many more servants, Henry Hazen, of auditor's department of the Missouri Pacific R. R., formerly from New Castle, Pa., wife of W. S. Stewart, of the firm of Derby & Day of this city, Andrew E. Islaman, of the firm of Fishman & Co. of this city, Charles G. Feerian, Sidmore Hayden. William Felix a minister, said to be a member of the English House of Commons, who was married in this city a few months ago, was residing at the hotel with his wife, became separated, and under the impression that she was killed he became intensely excited and evidently lost his mental balance. About 6 o'clock this morning he went to the room of a friend at the corner of Fourth and Olive streets and shot himself. The coroner held an inquest but could not decide whether death was caused by suicide or accident. There are various reports regarding the matter, one that he knew his wife was saved, and killed himself while laboring under mental derangement.

Dr. Auler intends making a very searching inquiry into the cause of the fire and all the facts connected with it, but will not begin for a day or two. The fire department is still throwing water on the ruins, and as soon as cool enough, search for bodies will be commenced. Those most familiar with the circumstances of the fire and number of guests and employes in the house believe that few if any, bodies will be found. There were about 80 female stewards in the hotel, instead of some 200, as previously reported.

P. S. Shakelford, of New York, has both legs broken, and some few others of the saved are more or less injured. Frankie McClellan is thought to be fatally wounded.

Insurance.

Sidmore Hayden, superintendent of the American Express stable, is among the killed, also Henry Hazen, deputy auditor of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

The following is the insurance on the hotel building and furniture: $7,500 each in the Hamburg, Bremen, London Associate, French Corporation, Ætna, Hartford, Boston National, and Milwaukee; $5,000 each in the North British, Mercantile, Niagara, New York, Commonwealth Boston, Pennsylvania Philadelphia, St. Paul Buffalo, German Franklin Philadelphia, Royal England, National of Hartford, Orient of Hartford, Shawmut of Boston, Connecticut Hartford, Shoe and Leather of Boston, Williamsburg City, New York, Richmond Fire Association, Fireman's of Newark, Merchants of Newark, Union of Philadelphia, People's of Trenton, German American of Pittsburg, Guaranty of New York, American of Philadelphia, New Jersey Traders of Chicago, Atlas of Hartford, Manufacturers of New Jersey, Rochester German; $2,500 each in Mobile Underwriters, Boston Underwriters, Revere of Boston, American of Newark, Girard of Philadelphia, Arctic of New York, Buffalo of Buffalo, Coopers' of Dayton Ohio, Pennsylvania Citizens of New York, Merchants of St. Joseph, Roger Williams, Union of Pittsburg, New York of Oswego, and Orendo Germania of Cincinnati; $4,000 in the State of Pennsylvania, $15,000 in the Scotch Commercial, $10,000 each in the Lancashire, England, National, of New York, Phœnix, of Hartford, Commercial, Union, Imperial and Northern, of Rhode Island, Association of London, Liverpool & Globe; $6,000 each in the Howard of New York, and Queen of England; $25,000 in the Boston Underwriters; 3,500 in the West Chester, of New York; $12,500 in the Manufacturers, of Boston; $5,500 on the Amazon, of Cincinnati; $3,000 in the Germania, of Newark, and $52,000 in local companies; total, $435,000. Of this insurance, $290 000 is on the building and $142,000 on the furniture, which is owned by Brestlin, Darling & Co., and valued at $200,000, and is a total loss.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Surprised and Pleased.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The Times' Washington special says: Chamberlain's withdrawal excites surprise here, for his recent utterances led to the belief that he would resist to the bitter end. Democrats are delighted, as are extreme Republicans. The latter believe the affair puts Hayes' Cabinet officers. It is said to-day that Chamberlain has acted with admirable wisdom and firmness, and the country will applaud his course.

Patterson Ready for Anything.

This morning Senator Patterson, who earnestly urged Chamberlain to contest his claims, expressed apprehension that he would formally surrender when troops were withdrawn from the State house. Patterson called at the White House to see the President and make a final remonstrance against the withdrawal of the troops, but was unable to see him for the reason that the Cabinet was in session. Upon learning of Chamberlain's withdrawal Patterson said he was not surprised but expressed great indignation at the course of the President, which made Chamberlain's withdrawal a necessity. He says now that the President has recognized Hampton, he, Patterson, is prepared to recognize Hamburg Butler and vote to admit him as Senator from South Carolina.

The Times on Chamberlain's Course.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The Times editorial says, Gov. Chamberlain has quitted with dignity a position which he filled with marked ability, and whose maintenance has of late required no common lot of personal bravery and self denying patriotism. The triumph of Hampton is one of force not of right, and the time will come when the heroic struggle of Chamberlain against the dishonest elements of his own party, and the lawless tactics of his political opponents, will be recognized more clearly than it is to-day as one of the brightest pages of the checkered history of Southern reconstruction.

Hampton in Peaceable Possession.

COLUMBIA, April 11.—Papers and other property were transferred to Gen. Hampton to-day. He is now in peaceable possession of the State House.

LOUISIANA.

The Last Day for Full Pay.

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—At noon to-morrow the probation time allotted by a resolution of the Nicholls legislature for all absent members to take seats with full per diem and expenses, expires. There is an impression among conservatives that enough members will avail themselves of this resolution to give the Nicholls House a returning board quorum.

Commission Gathering Information.

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—The commission to-day heard the state board of education regarding the affairs of that department.

A New Returning Board.

The Nicholls' legislature has passed an act abolishing the old State board and establishing a new one, composed of State officers and two citizens, of whom Pinchback is one.

Interviewing the two Governors.

After an interview with the board, the commission divided and had interviews with Governors Nicholls and Packard, spending considerable time with each.

Consulting Colored Men.

In the afternoon a delegation of thirteen colored men appeared, with Pinchback at the head, and among them three colored members of the Nicholls' legislature. They were all opposed to the Packard government and in favor of the recognition of the Nicholls, and presented their views at some length.

The commissioners have been busy as individuals, but they do not make known the progress they have made.

J. H. Newfenner and ex-Justice Wyly will submit to the commission a brief sustaining the legality of Nicholls' supreme court.

CANADA.

Custom House Burned.

MONTREAL, April 11.—The Clifton, Ont., custom house was burned this morning. The building was occupied by P. Holland & Co., bankers, the Dominion Telegraph Company and other offices. The upper part of the building was occupied by Ler Majesty's customs. Everything was burned.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LONDON, April 11.—The Times in a leading editorial reviewing the situation, says a circular has been issued by the Porte giving an unfavorable reply to the protocol and the demand for disarmament, even though the reusal may not be so absolute as to preclude further negotiation or dispel every hope that the determination may be reconsidered. It is impossible to look upon it except as a very grave event. Only the most urgent representations of the powers at St. Petersburg and Constantinople can now prevent a collision.

Change in the Vizierate.

BERLIN, April 11.—According to private intelligence from Constantinople a change in Vizierate is expected. Achmed Vefix Effendi is to succeed Edheim Pasha. The latter is said to be inclined to comply with the protocol.

The War News and Stocks.

LONDON, April 11.—Business on Stock Exchange is very flat. Turkish bonds are lower than at any time since the dethronement of Sultan Abdul Aziz.

To End an Uncertainty.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 11.—Safaet Pasha, communicating the Porte's determination to foreign representatives, expressed the regret of the Sultan and his ministers at the inability to follow the well-meant advice of the powers but both political and financial reasons made it absolutely necessary to terminate the present intolerable position of uncertainty.

Russia will Know.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 11.—The Golos says Europe probably within the next week will receive conclusive proof of Russia's determination to attain the end for which her troops have been concentrated on the frontier.

Impossible to Recede.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 11.—Safaet Pasha has informed the Montenegrin delegates that it is impossible for Turkey to cede Nicsa, Koutchi or Kalatschin, because the Chamber of Deputies has rejected their demands for the territory. Safaet added, however, that the Senate had still to examine the question. The Montenegrins replied by asking for a final answer on Friday, and if their demands are refused, which seems certain, they will quit Constantinople on Saturday.

Turkey must not Rely on England.

BRUSSELS, April 11.—Le Nord says Lord Derby's reservation on signing the protocol has been misinterpreted at Constantinople, he categorics by declaring that the Porte must in no way rely upon England.

Preparing for War.

BUCHAREST, April 11.—The Turks display great activity in pushing forward military preparations. Twenty-four Krupp guns arrived recently for defence on the banks of the Danube. Six battalions, with horses and ammunition for artillery, landed at Varna yesterday. Savfet Pasha daily concludes contracts for provisions. Flour is being forwarded to Widdes, where several thousand soldiers are completing the outworks. The territorial army of Vilayet, of the Danube, is already in arms.

Fights on the Side.

RAGUSA, April 11.—There has been continued conflicts for the last three days between Turks and Meridites.

Peace Counsels Rejected.

LONDON, April 11.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says there was great divergency in the Turkish cabinet. The Sultan and two of his ministers favoring a pacific reply to the protocol, and only demanding modifications of its expressions. The majority rejected these counsels of moderation. The Porte will not communicate its official reply until Thursday. The armistice expires Friday, consequently only 24 hours remain in which to obtain a prorogation, without which the pacific prospective is entirely compromised.

The Last word not yet Said.

LONDON, April 11.—The Times leading editorial says the news from Turkey would be grave if we believed Russia eager to precipitate war, but happily there is no need to draw such a conclusion. Diplomacy has not said its last word.

What Safaet Pasha Thinks.

LONDON, April 11.—The Standard's Constantinople special says Safaet Pasha was present in the Chamber of Deputies when the Montenegrin proposals were rejected. He was asked whether their rejection would cause war, and replied it probably would, though he was not certain.

Russia's Interpretation of the Protocol.

A Vienna dispatch reports that the Russian ambassadors will receive instructions to make known to the governments to which they are accredited, that Russia interprets the protocol, under the present circumstances, as binding the signers to consider immediately those common steps for which the protocol fixed no time. Russian diplomatists anticipate that the Turkish refusal will provoke action on the part of all the proposals.

Russia Demands Promptness.

A Berlin correspondent telegraphs that Russia contemplates sending a categorical summons to Constantinople demanding a decisive reply in three days. Count Andressy is making he utmost exertions to induce the Porte to yield.

A dispatch from Constantinople says the Russian senate confirmed the deputies' rejection of Montenegro's demand, but has decided to leave the settlement of the question to the government.

Good Day.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—The creditors of Isaac Friedlander met to-day to consider the situation of his affairs. Owing to a dispute as to the account of one of the principal creditors, definite action was postponed until that question is decided, which will probably be this afternoon, but the compromise offered by Mr. Friedlander is accepted by all the general creditors, and it is proved that unitec action will be taken to that effect, relieving him from his liabilities and enabling him to continue his business.

Shocking Accident.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—A shocking accident happened at the new City Hall this afternoon. While some laborers in the employ of contractor Howard were moving a heavy stone weighing nearly a ton, across a plank way on top of the building on the east wing, the scaffolding gave way precipitating the men with the stone and debris seventy-five feet to the corridors. In the descent the stone came in contact with the iron joists, crushing everything in its course. From the rubbish of twisted iron, crushed stone and splintered lumber the victims were taken at once. One was dead when aid reached him and another was breathing his last. The bodies were instantly conveyed to a stand on the premises and a messenger dispatched with all speed to summon surgical aid, with no hope of preserving life in the survivor. The accident seems to have been the result of carelessness for which the workmen themselves were in a measure responsible. Two contractors, a few hours before the accident occurred, had warned the men that the planking was too light to bear a stone of the weight which was then being handled, but to this warning little or no attention was paid. This is the only fatal accident that has occurred at the City Hall since the foundation was laid, at which time a laborer was killed by the falling of a brick. The names of the victims are Dennis O'Leary and Wm. Cosello; both married, and each has a family.

Female Bankrupts.

Laura D. Fair has filed a petition in bankruptcy which states her liabilities at $21,236 66 due lawyers, merchants, capitalists and brokers for money borrowed on stock account. Assets, 20 shares of Ophir, 25 of Mexican, valued at $550; also, as in January, 1876, an accruing for a dower of $7,000, house and lot in Yreka, of uncertain value and an undivided half of a lot in Alameda, valued at $400.

The Man who Vote A Thirty MacCrosh.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—In the police court, to-day, the case of William Fayne, attorney who assaulted Gen. John McComb in the Ada office, was called. Counsel for the prosecution stated that Fayne had apologized to McComb; that his action was taken under undue excitement; that he had been severely punished both by McComb and the public press, and therefore was satisfied to allow the case to be dismissed, which was ordered.

Agricultural Association.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—In conformity with the call of the Golden Gate Grange, representatives from about 12 granges met at the headquarters of the ocean, in this city, this evening to consider the question of agricultural education. By invitation Professors Hilgard, Kellogg and Jones and Joseph La Conte, of the University of California, were present and addressed the meeting. Messrs. G. W. Colby and Ed. Hallett of Butte, and A. W. Thomoson of Petaluma, and others also spoke on the question before the meeting. Some difference of views between the professors and grangers made themselves manifest, those of the latter appearing to be of the opinion that the course of study in the agricultural colleges was not sufficiently practical, and that students were not to much inducements to prosecute studies in other directions. The discussion, however, was thoroughly harmonious, and no very essential variance of opinion developed itself. On one point there was entire unanimity, that the agricultural department of the State University should be fostered and developed to the fullest possible extent.

Woman Suffragists.

The woman suffragists of the State held a meeting this evening in Dashaway Hall, but transacted no business of importance.

The Cable Murderer.

OROVILLE, April 10.—The Chico prisoners, under indictment for arson, were brought into court at 11 o'clock this morning to plead to the charge made against them. When the name of Holderbaum was called Mr. Hundley moved to set aside the indictment on the ground that the grand jury had considered other than legal evidence. It appeared from an endorsement upon the indictment that the confession of the boy Roberts had been read to them. This Mr. Hundley contended was not evidence, or at least not the best evidence, since the witness himself was confined in jail and the district attorney had power to bring him before them at any time as a witness; also, that the statement made was made subsequent to the transaction and could not be evidence against the defendants. He made an able argument in favor of the position taken by him, but the court overruled the motion and all plead not guilty to the indictments. Exception was taken to the ruling. The trials were then set as follows: Jones, April 17; Pleasant Slaughter, two cases, the 18th; Holderbaum and Mahoney the 19th, and Fay for the 20th. Hundley defends Holderbaum, Jones, Fay and Mahoney. The motion made in Holderbaum's case applies to all the rest. If the parties are found guilty their cases will be taken to the Supreme Court upon the ruling of Judge Safford on this point.

German Merchants Embargoed.

HAVANA, April 6.—Nineteen German merchants of Havana have recently been embargoed for their refusal to pay the 30 per cent. contributions. The German Consul here has received a communication from the imperial government stating peremptorily that the German residents in Cuba are, according to treaty, exempt from paying extraordinary contributions. It is said that at the same time that orders were received from Spain not to proceed against the German merchants and let the matter rest for the time.

CHINESE CHEAP LABOR.

The assassination of Chinese at Chico is taken as a text by Eastern newspapers for a more general discussion of the "Chinese question" than the subject has heretofore received at their hands. The Boston Advertiser hits a proper mean when it observes that heartless political economy, on the one side, says that cheapness is the first consideration, and if white labor cannot compete with Mongolian it must turn to something else or starve; and, on the other hand, the mere demagogue says that America is for white men, and all others should be excluded; while the truth lies between the two positions, and neither doctrine can be maintained to its full extent. All things relating to human society are limited and modified by surrounding conditions. It was long supposed that the doctrine of Malthus in regard to population and its pressure on the means of subsistence was an inexorable law. But it is now known to be subject to many limitations, and not a few hold that it is overturned altogether. There are disadvantages attending the presence of Chinese in large numbers among us, which are apparent and undeniable. But, as is the case in most matters, there are two sides to the question. Nothing is more certain than that industry, in many of its forms, contributes to the improvement and prosperity of the United States. Branches of manufacture have grown up, particularly in the Pacific States, which are solely sustained by Chinese labor, and which would fall at once if that labor were withdrawn. Farming interests are aided more and more by the employment of this description; while in the case of subordinate and menial service the Chinese is regarded almost indispensable. It is mentioned also by the Sacramento Record-Union, that the same fact may be noticed among ourselves, that hundreds of Chinese are employed by the wives of men who habitually denounce Chinese labor. They can afford to employ Chinese because the labor is cheap; otherwise the work would be forced to do their own hands. No doubt white servants find themselves crowded out of employment by the tractable and cheap Chinese, and encounter hardships in consequence. But on the other side of the question there are compensations, since many persons are able to employ Chinese labor who could hire white servants if the unrestricted immigration of people certainly would result in a scarcity of favorable results. It would become highly profitable for a class of large capitalists, who would practically banish white labor from it, to reduce it to a degraded condition. This, however, is not likely to occur so long as the sentiment and public sentiment of the country are opposed to it, as now. No large immigration is probable, with the present hostility against it. The worst of all encouragement of Chinese immigration is from persons who resort to Chinese. Such horrible deeds as those at Chico are the curse of the Chinese element in the country and of humanity.

FISH CULTURE.

The important subject connected with the commercial and material interests of Oregon and Washington Territory, the preservation of fish by artificial means, is attracting much attention. It is perfectly certain that unless something is done to arrest the evil, our rivers must be depleted of the most valuable species of fish. It is no longer an experiment or theory, it has passed into the region of practical certainty, and in many parts of the world has grown into a business of great profit and importance. In Great Britain, Germany, Austria and Russia it has become a national enterprise. All these countries have found it to their interest to stock their waters with valuable kinds of fish that had nearly been annihilated. In Europe it has been carried on for centuries, and the discovery, like many others, as that of gunpowder, among that unprogressive people, the Chinese, was lost. In the United States the matter is in charge of a few years ago by the State Legislature, and the result already has more than met the hopes and expectations of the friends of the measure. Rivers and lakes are being constantly stocked. Persons who have paid little attention to the subject have little idea of the importance that fish culture is to become to the future of this country, where large and pure rivers abound as nowhere else in the world. It is not too much, indeed, to say that it promises to be one of the most widely beneficial of all the discoveries of modern science.

In the realm of animated nature the same principle holds true that prevails in the vegetable kingdom. Judicious cultivation makes all the natural resources for the subsistence and comfort of man. The worthless and almost poisonous potato has been changed into a wholesome food that is the principal food of a large portion of the population of all parts of the globe. In its native state the wild tree scarcely produces seed enough to continue the supply; protected, cultivated and improved, it feeds a fifth part of the human race, and thousands of millions have been born who, without it, never would have been born into the world. Fruits of nearly all kinds have been brought to their present excellence by the careful hand of man; we raise animals, cross their breeds, study their food and the conditions under which they thrive best. Our daily struggle is to make the most of whatever can be turned to the support of the human family. The same law may be followed in the reproduction of fish; neglected and wasted they are soon annihilated; placed under favorable conditions, protected from unseasonable disturbances and allowed to breed in peace, there is no limit to their multiplication, within the wants of man.

The most interesting and valuable of all the food fishes is the salmon family. Special efforts are making in many countries for the propagation of this fish. At this moment the Columbia river is the most important stream for salmon fishery on the globe. In Maine and in Canada they are accustomed to boast of streams prolific in salmon, but the whole catch in the Penobscot during 1873 was less than fifteen thousand fish. The salmon has not the astonishing fecundity of the cod; a single fish of the latter will deposit a million eggs in a season, a rate of reproduction which long ago would have filled the ocean, till there had been more fish than water, had nature not provided means of reducing them. But the salmon, though not so prolific, multiplies with great rapidity. A single female of average size will deposit several pounds of eggs numbering about two thousand to the pound. A very large percentage of the product of such great fertility must perish, of course. The eggs are devoured by all other classes of fishes, and after they are hatched the young fry have many destructive enemies. It is in the protection of the eggs and the young, when hatched by artificial means, that much of the advantage that belongs to fish culture is gained. For thirty days after hatching, the salmon is quite helpless, being weighed down by the adhering and unabsorbed portion of the egg. After considering the risk to which the ova are exposed and the dangers that beset the helpless young, the only wonder is that any escape. It is estimated that not one in five hundred comes to maturity under the methods of nature. But by careful breeding, the enormous fertility of the fish can be made to work the greatest results for the interest and benefit of man.

It is known that salmon always return to the stream in which they were bred. By many interesting experiments this has been conclusively proved. Such a fact appears in the light of a beneficent provision of nature to hold out inducements to man to propagate the fish, in the assurance that it will return to the same waters where he may take it, instead of going a sewhere to fall a prize to one who had no share in the labor and expense of its propagation.

After the salmon is hatched it is six to eighteen months before it is ready for sea. By this time it is from six to twelve inches in length. It is proper to say that the period of the young salmon's stay in fresh water is not very accurately established; it seems to vary, and the facts reported are so far insufficient to make the general law on this point understood. The period of growth from the egg to maturity is believed to be from two to three years; but this must also await further observations. The length of their stay in the sea between their visits to the rivers is also a matter of great uncertainty.

THE IMPENDING WAR.

The causes which are manifestly leading to war in Europe are a combination of differences growing out of disputes which have arisen in the conflicts of races, religions and politics during a very long period. Montenegro is one of the so-called Christian provinces of Turkey. Its relations to the Ottoman government have never been very clearly defined. Though conquered by the Turks many years ago, the people have never fully acknowledged the authority of the Porte, but have continued to assert a sort of independence. This restless spirit has been encouraged and fostered by Russia. For more than a century and a half this Power has paid the Montenegrins an annual subsidy, virtually on an agreement that they should continue to dispute Turkish authority and maintain an attitude of hostility to the Turkish government. Montenegro is a province of small extent, lying near the eastern shore of the Adriatic. Its area is 3,880 square miles; the population numbers 120,000. The largest town contains no more than 1,200 inhabitants. The people are mostly Slavs of the Servian race; their language a very pure dialect of the Slavic, and their religion is that of the Greek or Eastern church. Prior to the conquests of the Musulmans in Europe, Montenegro belonged to the great Servian kingdom. This was overthrown by the Turks in 1389. The Prince of Montenegro, who was of the royal blood of Servia, continued to assert his independence, and the country was not conquered till 1714. Encouraged by Russia and subsidized by that Power, it did not then fully admit the authority of the conqueror, but almost ever since has continued to maintain an irregular warfare. It will be seen, therefore, that the causes of the conflict that now impends are remote and complicated, and lie deep in the history of race, of religions and of politics. In 1796 the Porte undertook to reduce the Montenegrins to submission, but was defeated in a great battle in which 30,000 Turks perished. The inhabitants are the most hardy and resolute of mountaineers, go constantly armed, and are always ready for marauding expeditions and for encounters with their enemy. Turkey has never failed to assert her authority over the province, and seems resolved now neither to relinquish it nor to guarantee the conditions of government insisted on by Russia. In other provinces in Turkey, as Servia and Bulgaria, most of the inhabitants are also of the Slavic race and adherents of the Greek Church. The misgovernment of the country and the atrocious cruelties of the Turks toward the inhabitants have attracted the attention of the civilized world, and created the sentiment in Europe that enables Russia to take without hindrance a decided position against the Ottoman government. In race and religion the people of the provinces are identical with those of Russia, and the long-continued relations of the Czar's government with the Montenegrins makes it possible, and even necessary, for Russia, under the circumstances now existing, to appear openly as their champion and protector. It is another incident, like the battle of Lepanto and the deliverance of Vienna by John Sobieski, in the restriction and limitation of Mohammedan power, in the great sweep of history it is a phase of the reaction from the Saracenic conquests of the middle ages.

The Philadelphia Press, in a huge double-headed article, urges that it is the duty of the government to furnish work for the masses who have no employment, and to undertake large public improvements. This is understood to be an echo of the voice of Pennsylvania for the construction of Scott's Texas Pacific Railroad. Pennsylvania has iron to sell.

It is asserted by the New York Tribune that though President Hayes has met thus far with very little opposition to the abolition of the "spoils system," yet a contest next winter with Congress is inevitable. Members will not give up their "patronage" without a struggle. They will want to use it to secure re-election.

From A. L. Bancroft & Co., publishers, San Francisco, we have Vol. III., United States Court Reports, ninth circuit. The volume will be of value to the profession. It contains many important cases.

During the past year the Northern Pacific Railroad earned $400,000 over expenses.

CITY.

MURDER.—A. W. Waters, United States Agent for Oregon, began to suspect some time ago that his confidential clerk and bookkeeper, Mr. Jackson Rodgers, was a trifle "irregular" in his accounts. So firmly was he impressed with this belief that he quietly set to investigate the books and his bank accounts. He soon made the very unpleasant discovery that Rodgers was defaulter to a considerable amount. A competent accountant was employed to examine the books, &c., &c., connected with the Marshal's office, and his investigation disclosed defalcations amounting in the aggregate to nearly $600. It was found that these peculations had been going on since the 1st of January. Mr. Waters considers himself fortunate that the defalcations are no larger. Rodgers has been in the employ for some months, and as he enjoyed the entire confidence of Mr. Waters, and was entrusted with the handling of large sums of money, his opportunities to practice peculations were unlimited. Finding that he was suspected, several days ago, Rodgers put in an appearance at the Marshal's office. Several warrants are in the hands of the officers, but up to a late hour yesterday no arrest had been made. He is reported to be in town, but since then cannot be found. It is thought he has left the city. Rodgers is said to be a very companionable man. He has long been an unfortunate victim to the passion for gambling, and his misfortune and disgrace may be attributed directly to this terrible vice.

DISASTER ON SNAKE RIVER.—Early last October Major Deane, of the second U. S. cavalry, with headquarters in Dakota Territory, received orders from Gen. Terry, department commander, to proceed with a small detachment of men down the Snake river. He was instructed to start at the extreme head waters of the river, and follow that rapid and dangerous stream down as far as Lewiston. He was furnished with a complete map of the entire country, showing in detail its course. The party was to embark in a boat which would be built for that purpose, and thus be easily conveyed from one portage to another, which would have to be passed around as regularly as the channel would be marked. An escort of men to accompany Lieut. Deane and his party had been promised during December, but since then nothing has been heard from the party. Unless disaster of some character befell the party should have been at Lewiston or at some other point before now. Lewiston is a small place, and well known to all the people of the country around. It is probable that the party, after reaching the point mentioned, would go into camp for the winter, and not attempt to make the trip across Bill to Junction City, a distance of [illegible] miles, over a [illegible] trail, and through a [illegible] country, [illegible] settlements. [illegible] Indians [illegible] Deane, to the command [illegible] It is not impossible that [illegible] a misfortune, the best [illegible] would be made in nearly [illegible] to a [illegible] as practicable.

PERSONAL.—We [illegible] the [illegible] of the following [illegible] from the car shops [illegible] East Portland: [illegible] early this morning a [illegible] smoke was seen [illegible] issue from the residence of Mr. Baxter. An [illegible] of fire was immediately given and the [illegible] ups rushed from the shops to the scene. [illegible] through pluck and energy they succeeded in [illegible] a few of the most costly articles of [illegible] and furniture, but the greatest part of [illegible] furniture and other effects were consumed. [illegible] the building, we [illegible] Mr. Baxter, [illegible] also of Mr. Brady, owner of the building, for his daring efforts to save property.

EXAMINATION.—This morning at 10 o'clock the preliminary examination of William C. Hammond, charged with the murder Thomas D. Davis, on the morning of March 24, near this city, will commence before Judge J. H. Woodward. The examination will take place at the court house in the Circuit Court room. The State will be represented by Messrs. R. Scott and Charles A. Ball, and Messrs. Page and Goodsell will appear in behalf of the defendant. A number of witnesses will be examined during the progress of the trial, and the preliminary hearing will probably continue through several days.

PASSENGERS.—The steamer City of Panama, which sailed from San Francisco for Victoria and Sound ports Tuesday, carried away the following passengers: Mrs. Eliza Stravy, L. Heynemann, J. F. Hawks, J. S. Smith, and wife, Miss Kate Thompson, James Strevey, Henry Miller, G. Henderson, G. Thomson and wife, F. G. Dement, W. V. Smith, E. Farley and wife, H. Colby, Miss Rose Chanelle, Miss Ella Lefevre, James W. Betts, W. Ellis, B. Rathbone, A. H. Belle and wife, D. H. Edwards, W. H. Tills, L. Bodecker and 46 in the steerage.

INSANE PATIENT.—A person named Thomas Farley was examined before Judge Woodward Tuesday on a charge of lunacy. He was adjudged insane and commitment papers issued. Farley has been indulging excessively in the use of strong drink and his reason became seriously affected thereby. It is thought by Farley's friends that his mind will be fully restored in a month or two by his being confined in the asylum, as his principal ailment appears to be a too free use of the "ardent."

CHIEF JOSEPH.—Lieut. Boyle, Gen. Howard's aide, who is now at Umatilla reservation, reports an interview between Joseph, the Nez Perces chief, and Major Connoyer, the Indian agent. He (Boyle) was present at the interview. Chief Joseph still declares that he will not go on the Lapwai reservation unless he is compelled to do so. All Joseph's band are seemingly peaceable on a visit, for what special purpose does not appear.

CRIME NOTES.

Large mail.

"Two Orphans."

Glorious weather.

Morand's examination to-day.

Time to put the street sprinkler in order.

Benefit of "The Home" next Saturday evening.

There are 22 boarders now in the county jail.

Steamer Ajax brought to this port 680 tons of assorted cargo.

Miss Annie Firmin will be "benefited" at New Market Theater to-morrow evening.

It seems to be a settled fact that Madame Ilma De Murska will soon visit Portland.

The City of Chester is expected to sail from San Francisco for this port next Saturday.

A number of ladies visited the county jail yesterday, and distributed a number of papers and pamphlets among the inmates.

Captain R. R. Thompson and family will take their departure for California on the next steamer sailing from this port after the Ajax.

In police court yesterday the following proceedings were had: John Heft, burglary, case continued; John Evarts, drunk and disorderly, fined $5.

Sheriff Jeffery came out yesterday in an entire new rig—a handsome light buggy—the principal portion of which he purchased at Fulton, Pa. A 2 40 nag appeared in the harness.

Miss Rosie Steinheiser, formerly a pupil at St. Helen's Hall, after having passed the winter season among her numerous friends in this city, returned to her home, Eugene City, yesterday.

Johnny Daugherty, who was sent to the penitentiary from Portland several years ago for some slight "irregularities," is now chief tonsorial artist at that institution. John handles the scissors and razor, they say, like a true knight.

COURT FOR COLUMBIA COUNTY.

The regular April term of State circuit court for Columbia county opened last Monday morning at St. Helens. Judge L. L. McArthur presided, in the absence of Judge Shattuck. Ja to Tuesday noon the following cases on the docket were disposed of:

Jacob Keats vs W. W. West; judgment for the defendant.

State of Oregon vs James Berry; selling liquor without a license; defendant arraigned, entered plea of guilty, and was fined $50; paid and discharged.

State of Oregon vs Michael Mooney; assault and battery; entered plea of guilty and fined $20.

Thos. Cottle vs H. S. Guild; jury trial; cause on trial Tuesday forenoon.

Court will probably adjourn for the term today (Thursday).

The Portland bar is well represented, the following "legal limbs" being in attendance on the court: Judge Wm. Strong, John Catlin, Thos. A. McBride, J. C. Moreland, C. B. Upton, Geo. W. Yocum, A. C. Gibbs, R. Stott (district attorney), and R. E. Bywee. The calendar is unusually light.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The "Caledonian," of which Geo. T. Reid is proprietor, is meeting with a large trade. See card.

Astorian's and Clatsop county people in general, will note J. Shemanski's ad. He deals in glass (including blue glass) and does work in the glazing line.

Mr. F. E. Brigham, at the Ladies' Bazar, No. 71 First street, has just received a large and splendid stock of foreign and domestic millinery and fancy goods, linen suits, white crash goods, embroideries, parasols, ruching, ties, gloves, hosiery, corsets, ladies' underwear, etc., etc. He has a thousand novelties. Ladies, do not fail to call and examine his stock.

Purchasers are always desirous of getting the best articles for the lowest price. If persons wish to buy anything in the dry goods or fancy dress line, and obtain a splendid article and at the same time get it cheap, we should recommend the firm of J. F. D. Wrinkle & Co., who have just opened a new and magnificent assortment at the corner of Salmon and First streets. Their stock comprehends everything in the line of ladies' goods, too numerous to mention. Read their advertisement on the second page, and don't fail to look at their price list. Who wouldn't dress well while goods are sold for almost a song?

AMUSEMENTS.

The company now playing at the theater gave a satisfactory performance. It must have been gratifying to the manager to note the increased patronage, which will be greatly improved as new plays are brought out. Tonight the "Two Orphans" will be placed on the stage with all the appointments and a capable cast. Mr. Jack is striving to give entertainments of a high order, in which, we trust, he will be sustained, as that depends upon his future interests in the same direction.

Died During the Passage.—Two small children whose parents belong to a Swiss colony, coming to find permanent homes in this State, died on board the steamer Ajax, while that vessel was on the way to Portland. Soon after leaving San Francisco, the children were taken violently ill with diphtheria. Everything possible was done to save their lives. All efforts proved fruitless, and both little sufferers passed to the Beyond. One died while the steamer was some distance down the coast, and not being able to preserve the remains, the broken hearted parents were compelled to commit the little body to the keeping of the ever-troubled waters of the deep, about 60 miles off the mouth of the Columbia. The other child died some time after, and the remains were brought to this port for interment.

COMMON COUNCIL.

SPECIAL MEETING, APRIL 11, 1877.

A special meeting of the Common Council was held last evening at the Chamber.

His Honor Mayor Chapman being absent Councilman Wiley was chosen president.

W. S. Caldwell, auditor and clerk, and Chief Lappeus in attendance.

Members present—Councilmen Blumauer, Corbett, Harrington, Stephens and Wiley.

Absent—Andrus, Lambert, Skidmore and Stemme.

Minutes of the last regular meeting read and approved.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES.

A petition asking the council to change the grade on North Eleventh street was read and referred to committee on streets and public property.

From Wm. Healy, asking for the improvement of North Eleventh street from B to O; read and referred to committee on streets and public property.

From W. W. Piper, remonstrating against the assessment on his property for the improvement of North Ninth street. The petitioner claimed that he had been too highly taxed, and asked for a retatement of the same; referred to committee on judiciary.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

The following report was read, warrants ordered drawn in favor of the claimants and the document filed:

PORTLAND, April 9, 1877.

To the Honorable the Common Council—GENTLEMEN: The report of the Police Judge for the quarter ending March 31, 1877, shows:

Fines collected (city cases)	$679 80
Fines collected (State cases)	157 40
Fees of Judge (State cases)	86 50
Fees of Chief of Police (State cases)	47 68
	$971 38

Witness fees are due: M. F. Sheehan, $15 30; C. W. Howard, $25 50; A. McCoy, $8 50; G. W. Maxwell, $1 70; B O'Hara, $3 40; F. D. Love, $1 70; John Knudsor, $1 70; E. Clem, $1 70.

Respectfully, W. S. CALDWELL, Auditor and Clerk.

The claim of the Portland Gas Light Co. for $32 05 was read and a warrant for that amount ordered drawn.

ORDINANCES.

It was moved and carried that the ordinance amendatory to an ordinance designating the daily newspaper in which the city advertising should be published, be taken from the table. The motion prevailed.

Councilman Harrington moved that the blank in the ordinance be filled by inserting the Daily Standard; carried.

Councilman Blumauer moved that Rule 26 be suspended, and that the ordinance as amended be passed to its third reading.

The ordinance being in that state wherein such action was superfluous, it was not seconded and no vote was taken on Mr. Blumauer's motion.

The ordinance was then taken up and read the third and last time, and placed on its final passage.

When the roll was being called, Councilman Corbett arose and stated to the members present that he should have to be excused from voting on the passage of the ordinance.

Five votes being required to pass an ordinance, the friends of the one on which the vote was being taken were somewhat nonplussed at this sudden and unexpected turn of affairs. As the ordinance could not possibly pass by four votes, it was found necessary to reconsider.

Councilman Stephens moved that the vote be reconsidered, and that the ordinance lie over until the next meeting of the Council. The motion prevailed.

Several other engrossed ordinances were called over, but action was deferred until a future meeting of the Council.

An ordinance making an appropriation out of the police fund was read by title and laid over under the rule.

On motion the Council adjourned.

MINING NEWS.

The capitalists of this city who have purchased the Monumental mine in Grant district, Grant county, Oregon, have arranged all preliminaries.

At a meeting held on the 5th inst. to complete the organization and for the election of directors and officers of the company, the following named gentlemen were elected directors: E. J. W. Stemme, C. S. Miller, O. N. Denny; Wm. Grant, Dalles, and F. C. Sels, Canyon City. E. J. W. Stemme was chosen president, C. D. Folger, secretary, and C. S. Miller general manager.

The gentlemen comprising the directorship of this company are well and favorably known throughout the State, and their connection with the enterprise ought to inspire public confidence in it. A wise selection was made in the choice of our fellow-townsman, E. J. W. Stemme, for president. Mr. Stemme, in former years, done business in the vicinity of this mining district, and has great faith in its merits. C. D. Folger is fully qualified, and will make an efficient secretary. C. S. Miller, Esq., who has been appointed general manager, will direct all the operations at the mine. For several years past Mr. Miller has been actively engaged in quartz mining, having been superintendent of the leading mines in Nevada and Idaho. Besides being a practical miner he has a thorough knowledge of milling, assaying and, in fact, is thorough in the business in all its branches, and perhaps no one on the coast is better entitled to the claim of being an expert. He has recently visited the district, and his report on the property of this company and the district generally is exceedingly flattering. He does not hesitate in saying that he considers it one of the most promising camps on the coast. The mineral belt, he claims, covers more ground than several of the mining camps of Nevada together, and while he does not claim that any one of the mines on Granite creek district will equal the famous Con Virginia or California mine on the Comstock, still he maintains that the district in time will makes better showing on the capital required to be invested than even the Washoe district.

The property of the Monumental Silver Mining Company consists of 3,000 feet on the Monumental lode, 1,500 feet each over three other separate lodes running parallel, and a tunnel right which covers all other veins or lodes on the mountain for a length of 3,000 feet from the starting point of said tunnel. In this corporation or company there is property enough, if the enterprise proves successful, to warrant the belief that the company will in time represent as much hard cash as the great bonanza kings of Nevada.

In addition to the intrinsic merits of this mine, it commends itself to the citizens of Oregon as a home enterprise, thus far developed by Oregon capital, and the great wealth which in all probability it will yield the people of this State will receive. The company have established an office in this city, rooms No. 11 and 12 Strowbridge building, First street, where can be seen specimens of the ore, and information furnished regarding the mine.

Gold in New York, 106.

Silver Coin—buying, 95; selling, 96.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 95; selling 96.

The warlike tenor of the news from Europe has caused an advance in the price of gold in the New York market to 106, but rates on this coast so far are not little affected. The supply of currency in the local market is small and is required in the conduct of the general business of the country, so that a few days must elapse after a rise in gold has taken place in the East before it has a perceptible effect here. Hence we find legal tenders are held as about the same figures now that they were a week ago, when the price of gold in New York was 3@4% lower than at present.

The condition of local monetary affairs exhibits no important change, and with the fair supply of available funds at hand the spring's business is well supported. The bankers and brokers show little disposition to take any advantage of the somewhat increased demand which has arisen with the approach of spring, but on the contrary applicants are generally met with a good deal of favor and their wants supplied on the usual terms. This of course can only be expected by those who proffer first class securities or paper of prime commercial currency.

It is advised from San Francisco report that the banks and monetary reservoirs are so full of cash that it is reported for sale that it is actually being offered for employment on terms fabulously cheap for that city. On call and with gilt-edge securities, mainly government bonds or other collaterals immediately convertible into cash, any needed amount can be had for 5 per cent. The regular interest rate is 9@12 per cent.

From the East, the news of a commercial nature is more encouraging, without any special features. Among business men there seems to be a belief that many if not most of the weak concerns have been weeded out by the long period of depression, and the country has undergone, and is now passing through, a process which will be all the more beneficial in the end.

Wheat Exports.

The estimates of the surplus wheat in this State for export varied the amount variously at from 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 bushels, though reports prior to harvest had not justified such high figures as two hundred thousand bushels. The exports of flour and flour reduced to wheat, of the crop of 1876 were in the aggregate 4,272,565 bushels. The exports for the current harvest year have not reached 3,000,000 bushels altogether, and according to the present indications the shipments for the harvest year will not exceed 3,250,000, or about a million bushels less than of the harvest of 1876. Should the present complications in Europe result in war and raise prices to a fancy figure, of course other circumstances produce the same surplus of the State might be exported, but the total exports for the harvest of 1877 are not hopefully be expected. Present prospects of favorable weather the yield will be at least 20 per cent, than even before it the local statisticians are now commencing a material reduction in their estimate of yield.

The London Times says that the United States has lost 19 years has sold $43,000,000 of breadstuffs and munitions of war to Europe, and continues. Hitherto Turkey has been a heavy purchaser, but now orders upon a liberal scale come from Russia. Whatever we may do in support of life in the Old World, we cannot help admire the means of destroy, which, perhaps, be more agreeable to the New World with plow shares and pruning hooks than they will indulge occasionally in such matters, we may as well turn a penny.

Bradstreet's reports that the exports of manufactured cotton in the United States, excluding Canada, for the past months something over 50 per cent. of the total reached 1876, a year of the largest export therefore. Reports of the mining stocks market in San Francisco have had the effect of stimulating speculation in that city to other channels, and the sales of real estate during March exceeded those of February by 157 in number, and the value, with an unchecked demand at the close, was estimated at $2,664,790. There were also 1,000 mining claims, representing an aggregate of $2,442,000 in value, worth $1,427,840.

The Shipping List shows an aggregate amount of shipping now on the way and chartered at San Francisco. From New York there are 14 vessels, and Liverpool 26,067 tons—these being the larger amounts.

The business of breadstuffs in California in the Dispatches is regarded as small for an export and consumption in that State. The shipments of wheat, 1,545,845 centals of wheat, 1,000,000 centals of flour in that State in 1876-77, and 2,000 barrels on Jan. 1st, 1877.
